Great Reputations

Are Unsafe Nowadays

For more than 500 years the world has considered Johannes Gutenberg secure in his reputation as the inventor of type.

The encyclopedia listing reads: "Gutenberg, Johannes (1400-1468), German inventor of printing from movable type."

He produced the first type-printed book in the history of the world, the Gutenberg (or Mazarin) Bible, of which there are only three perfect copies in existence today. The best of the three is in the Library of Congress at Washington, having been bought in a collection of 3,000 books known to have been printed before the year 1500 for a total price of 1 1/2 million dollars.

This is the record on Gutenberg. But now it appears that Gutenberg, like Columbus, who "discovered" our continent 500 years after Lief Ericson, and then named it for a fellow Italian, Amerigo Vesputius, instead of the Icelandic find — it seems that now Gutenberg's reputation is to be spilled also.

In the current issue of Editor & Publisher, New York, Geraldine M. Todd reports on 10 years of research by an American printing technician, John S. Thompson, 78, of Los Altos, Calif. Mr. Thompson, a modern authority on insetting, a modern authority on insetting machinery, is writing a book to show that it was Peter Schoeffer, an engraver who worked with Gutenberg, who actually invented movable type.

Thompson says Gutenberg worked with whole lines of type — as cast by a linotype machine today — not individual movable letters. His research leads Thompson to believe that the Gutenberg Bible was printed from such slugs, and it was after this work that Schoeffer developed individual type letters.

Says Thompson: "Gutenberg conceived the idea of engraving a series of individual steel punches for all the letters of the alphabet (perhaps 300 separate punches in all), then composing them, a line at a time, and impressing their faces simultaneously into a brass plate to form a matrix.

"A rectangular box of about the same size as his lines, was then placed on top of the matrix plate, and hot metal was poured into it by hand. The line of type was then ejected from this mold and then the line of punches returned to their receptacles. This operation was repeated for each line, and the result was 127,000 lines of the 36-line Bible that he printed."

Mr. Thompson knows what he's talking about, of course. Yet I doubt whether anything he publishes in his forthcoming book causes the world to strike out the name of Johannes Gutenberg as the true inventor of printing.

We know that Lief Ericson was almost 500 years ahead of Columbus in discovering America, landing at Labrador about the year 1000 and naming it "Vinland." But Columbus, navigating strictly on his own, reached the Caribbean and set off the tide of immigration which actually developed this continent. In the broadest sense, therefore, Columbus was a true discoverer — and Ericson a mere sightseeing tourist.

And it's pretty much the same story with Gutenberg. While the other fellow may have invented individual type letters, which the world called "printing" for the next 400 years, it is Gutenberg's very latesting system that is used almost exclusively today.

The linotype uses it, of course, automatically. But there is another modern machine, the Ludlow, which uses Gutenberg's exact manual system. Large brass matrices of headline and advertising type are assembled by hand in a "stick" to make a line; this line is cast in hot metal — and the original brass matrices are then returned to their cases — without ever having touched ink or paper.

These are 20th Century machines that I speak of — and it will be very difficult indeed for any man or book of our time to break down the reputation of that primitive linecaster of 500 years ago, Johannes Gutenberg.

County Office Deputies Are Named

New officers will take over at the courthouse on January 1, and all will have experienced deputies. Although not officially verified by Sheriff Sutton it is general knowledge that Crit Stuart will continue as his office deputy and Allen Shipp will again be chief field deputy.

Circuit Clerk Omara Evans Kitchens announced that her deputy again would be Mrs. M. E. Garand, and Garrett Willis said Mrs. Isabelle McCorkle will continue as deputy tax assessor.

A newcomer to politics, Lucille Huggins, has named Mrs. Newt Pentecost as her deputy. Mrs. Pentecost has several years experience as deputy treasurer.

Another new officeholder, Harry Hawthorne, announced his deputy would be Arthur Anderson who has served under the last three county clerks.

No Decision in GOP Parley to Oust Acheson

Washington, Dec. 11 — (AP) — Republican leaders failed today to reach any decision on a proposal by Senator Ives of New York that Senate Republicans declare "no confidence" in Secretary of State Acheson and demand his immediate ouster.

In a closed door meeting, a four-man subcommittee of the Senate Republican policy committee considered a resolution drafted by Ives calling for Acheson's removal, but told reporters afterward that they reached no conclusion at all.

"At this time it is utterly impossible to forecast what the outcome of these deliberations will be," the New York Republican said after the meeting in his office.

Other members of the subcommittee are Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Senate Republican leader; Senator Millikin of Colorado, the Senate Republican conference chairman, and Senator H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey.

A resolution by Ives for Acheson's ouster was considered by the Senate Republican policy committee last week and then checked to the subcommittee for consideration. The subcommittee, in turn, is expected to make a recommendation to the 43 senators making up the GOP conference.

Ives said there would be no meeting of the conference until the subcommittee has finished its job. He said another subcommittee meeting will be held tomorrow.

James Fuller Corn Exhibit Winner

James Robert Fuller of Shover Springs exhibited the first place 10-year exhibit in the fifth annual Hemstead County 4-H club Corn show Saturday. Fourteen boys had entries in the exhibit which was held in the Carrigan building on South Elm Street in Hope.

Frank Scott of Little Rock, representative of the Peppard Seed Company, distributors of Funk's G-Hybrids, judged the show. Mr. Scott said that the James Robert Fuller 10-year exhibit was the seed of all that he had found in all of his 1950 corn judging over Arkansas. It was uniform, mature, and fairly free from insect and disease.

Young Fuller had selected the exhibit as the corn was harvested early in the fall and had protected it from insects with rotenone-sulphur dust.

Wilcox Edwards of Guernsey showed the second place ten-year entry and Burrell Joe Smith of Patmos entered the third place exhibit. All exhibits were G-711 hybrids.

County Agent Oliver L. Adams complimented the 4-H boys on their extra efforts to make the corn show a success. Thanks goes to T. S. McDavitt for use of the building.

Cash awards totaling $24 were made as follows: $5 first, $4 third, $2 fourth, and $1 each for the remainder.

Cohen's Attorney Found Shot to Death

Hollywood, Dec. 11 — (AP) — Sam Rummel, 52, prominent attorney who represented Gambler Mickey Cohen in many of his legal entanglements, was found shot to death on the front steps of his home today.

Detecives listed Rummel's death as murder under mysterious circumstances.

The coroner's office, after a cursory examination, said the death was a possible homicide. "Rummel was shot in the neck," said investigating detectives. "The bullet came out the back of his head."

Informed of the slaying, Cohen declared excitedly: "My God My God It's not so."

Truman Considers Proclaiming a National Emergency Along With Wage, Price Controls

Washington, Dec. 11 — (AP) — President Truman today gave intense study to the question of declaring a national emergency — possibly to be followed by wage-price control — and asked both Democratic and Republican congressional leaders to meet with him tomorrow.

Senator Taft R-Ohio was one of those invited to a White House meeting at 10 a. m. Tuesday. It was the first time Taft, head of the Senate GOP policy committee, has been brought into the emergency consultations since the Korean war.

A White House announcement said the congressional group was being called to the White House "to discuss matters concerning the proclaiming of a national emergency and related matters."

It added that the President "is particularly anxious now," as always, to continue and strengthen the bi-partisan approach to these matters.

Indications were piling up that the administration was swinging to the thought that action in the wage-price field must be taken without further delay.

There were hints that something may be done before the week's end.

The White House said the questions of declaring a national emergency were discussed at a forenoon meeting of Mr. Truman and his Democratic congressional allies and would be gone over also at an afternoon meeting with economic advisers.

House Speaker Rayburn D-Tex., one of those at the morning meeting, told reporters the whole matter "is in the stage of discussion and consideration." He said he assumes Mr. Truman wants to get the reaction of the Democratic-Republican congressional group before announcing a decision.

Besides the afternoon meeting with economic advisers, Mr. Truman also scheduled a meeting with the national security council. This is his top advisory board on steps needed for defense of the nation.

In addition, Stephen Early, acting presidential press secretary, said Mr. Truman and his staff have been discussing the idea of a nationwide broadcast by the President some time this week to acquaint the American people with the situation demanding drastic government action.

In between his two formal conferences, Mr. Truman has as callers the men he has chosen to handle economic controls and some of those who dealt with them during and after World War Two.

This group included John Caskey Collet, a member of the U. S. court of appeals at Kansas City and one time stabilization administrator, and John R. Steelman, assistant to the President and former acting chairman of the national security resources board.

Also at this meeting were Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, Alan Valentine, economic stabilization director; Michael V. DiSalle, price administrator, and Cyrus Ching, chairman of the wage stabilization board.

Collet told a reporter the idea was for the "old timers" to review some of the problems they ran into.

If It Learned Nothing Else the American Army in Korea Knows Now How Russia Fights

By HAL BOYLE
With U. S. Eighth Army, Korea — (AP) — What has the American army learned from the sad and bitter campaign to police Korea?

It has been so heart-breaking and frustrating — this half year ride on a military merry-go-round that circles from defeat to victory and back to defeat again — that many a soldier might reply cynically: "We have learned nothing here except how to lose a war."

But tragic as the American losses have been and grim as the future of the United Nations army now appears, there is a nugget of hope in this wilderness of hopelessness as massing hordes of Chinese Reds push back the outnumbered U. N. forces.

It is a bitter-sweet hope at best, however, and captured by one professional soldier in this way: "The Korean campaign is a puzzle that has been worthwhile if only because it has served as a laboratory for the third world war, if it comes. We have trained here and nucleus of a bigger army that will know how to fight that war."

The fact is hardly one to gladden the parents of 18-year old boys at home. But it does guarantee that — if the vaster war comes — those young boys will have a better chance of coming out of it alive. They will serve under men who have already learned the battle techniques of the enemy — and how best to counter them.

This view that the American army has gleaned something of enduring military value from the Korea fighting comes from Colm Richard W. Stephens of Sioux Falls, S. D.

Colonel Stephens is a soldier's soldier and to me exemplifies the American professional army at its finest. If I had to name the most outstanding combat officer of the Korean campaign it would have to be Stephens. Many correspondents feel that way about him and so do many staff officers.

Stephens commands a regiment of the 24th Infantry division. He is blunt, honest, able, courageous and deeply sentimental about his troops. To them in many battles he has seemed more like a quarterback sparking a team playing than a distant commander ordering them to their deaths. For he has shared their danger all the long weary way since he first took them into action early last July.

Like most regular army officers, Stephens feels that the world-political situation made the campaign here necessary but Korea was strategically a poor place to commit our troops.

Violent Deaths in Arkansas Mount to 8

By The Associated Press

Eight violent deaths were reported in Arkansas Saturday and Sunday.

These deaths brought to 28 the fatality toll since last Monday. The total is one more than that for the last previous seven-day period.

A 19-year-old soldier who had recovered from wounds suffered in the Korean fighting and a 15-year-old girl were killed when an automobile left highway 7 and crashed into a three south of Hot Springs early Sunday.

They were Pvt. James E. Young of Manning, Ark., who'd been dismissed recently from a military hospital and was to be re-assigned to duty soon, and Dorothy Chittum of Sparkman, Ark.

Young's sister, Mrs. Betty Joe Selph, 20, and the automobile driver, Sgt. Charles E. Gray, 29, an ROTC instructor at Henderson State Teachers college Arkadelphia, were injured, neither apparently dangerously.

Kay August Burt, 19, of Wilmar, Ark. died of carbon monoxide poisoning as he sat in his stalled automobile with motor and heater running near his home early Sunday. Drew County Coroner Raymond Stephenson said exhaust fumes, containing the gas, apparently leaked into the automobile.

Also on Sunday Dan A. Rogers, 66, retired railroad switchman, died in a fire which burned the bed in his garage apartment at Fort Smith. His body was found in the charred ruins of the bed. The fire didn't spread to the rest of the apartment.

Wilson Webb, 57, a Negro, of near England, was killed when his shotgun discharged accidentally as he leaned it against a tree.

On Saturday a man died in traffic accident at El Dorado as the driver was stabbed to death at Pine Bluff and a suicide was reported in Little Rock.

Frisco Mail Services to Be Discontinued

Texarkana — Because of the withdrawal of passenger trains of the Frisco Railroad between Hugo, Okla., and Hope, Ark., on Jan. 1, plans are being made to provide mail service by truck to post offices in the affected area. H. W. Newbold, superintendent of the postal transportation service, said Saturday.

Newbold said it will be necessary to provide mail service by truck along highway 71 in Ashdown and then west to Hugo. Rural mail service will handle service east of Ashdown toward Hope.

He said that B. E. McCaskill, district superintendent, postal transportation service, of Denison, Texas, will be in Texarkana Wednesday to receive bids from persons interested in contracting for the truck service by McCaskill will be in room 404 of the post office building from 1 to 5 p.m. Wednesday.

He said that the American army needs to be streamlined — that it has too few riflemen at the front and too many headquarters and rear area personnel. They believe it would be more efficient in battle if it had less equipment and a higher percentage of foot troops to throw on the actual battlefield — as oriental armies do.

But Stephens proved that the American army has intricate organization is basically superior — considering the difference between the oriental and the American soldier.

"Our doctrine is sound," he said. "If the North Koreans had had the supporting elements we had here the war would have been over more than three months ago. They are not mobile enough to exploit a breakthrough. We are."

"Their communications are too limited. One fellow doesn't know what the other fellow is doing. They have to adhere to a single plan because they aren't flexible. They can't switch quickly to another battle plan if something goes wrong. They just don't have the communications to do it. If they did have them they would have won the war in the first six weeks."

It was this advantage in mobility and communications that enabled the American Eighth Army to escape being completely destroyed by the slower moving masses of Chinese Red infantry.

Stephens says one of the lessons we learned here was that the American army's policy of dealing fairly with enemy civilians pays off militarily.

"That is why we have so little sabotage," he said. "The Germans lost in Russia because they mistreated and butchered the people in their rear areas and lost any hope of getting their cooperation. We haven't done that. And I believe that most North Koreans were honestly glad to see us come."

The proof of this is that hundreds of thousands of North Korean refugees, fearful of the advancing Chinese, are trying to accompany the American army as it withdraws into South Korea.

MacArthur flew to Korea for a hard look at his United Nations command. It remains unbeaten, ready to fight, and able to battle the hordes.

His secret visit to both the west and northeast fronts as the last elements of the cold, unshaven American and doughboys streamed the Hamhung coastal plain series of Red traps near reservoir.

There was a note of optimism in MacArthur's to correspondents after turned to Tokyo from trip to the warfront. He ferred on the spot with his orals.

The United Nations in spite of its recent loss, is in excellent shape, high morale and complete confidence," the U. N. commander said. "Although heavily superior it has come through in a superior manner."

"The enemy's claims of Nations losses in men and material are fantastically exaggerated. We are being forced to give but our fighting capacity is far greater than they realize."

He added that the Chinese had failed to plan for our destruction by air strikes.

Crow, Silvey Named to State Senate Efficiency Group

Little Rock, Dec. 11 — (AP) — The men who'll comprise the 1951 Arkansas senate committee to study the Snoddy of Mulberry as senate secretary.

Snoddy is a former senator and was secretary at the 1949 session.

Lieut. Gov. Nathan Gordon, who'll preside over the senate, appointed an efficiency committee for the session. It's composed of Clyde E. Byrd, El Dorado, chairman; Orville Cheney, Calico Rock, vice-chairman; Thomas Silvey Bodcaw; F. C. Crow, Hope, and Ernest Nicholson, Harrison.

Snoddy's election and appointment of the committee were made at a meeting which followed a duck dinner given for the new senate by retiring Senator Ed Dillon of North Little Rock and Senator Ellis Fagan of Little Rock.

The dinner has been a biennial affair for many years.

Dillon, a senator for more than 20 years, won't be at the 1951 session. He didn't seek renomination.

Miss Corynne Edison, Jack Bruner Marry

Miss Corynne Edison, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Collins, Texarkana, became the bride of Jack Bruner, son of Mrs. R. M. Bruner and the late Mr. Bruner in an impressive ceremony December 3.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ed Mathison in the First Methodist Church in Texarkana. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers. Candles were lighted by Alfred Brannan, Hope and Wallace Beene Shreveport. Mrs. Leonard Peters, organist, played "Clair de Lune" during the candlelighting and "Liebestraume" was played as a ceremonial.

The traditional bridal chorus and wedding march were used. Mrs. R. J. Singleton sang "Because" and "At Dawning."

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Catherine Edison. Given in marriage by her uncle, the bride was gown in a white slipper satin dress, designed with a high neckline with small self-covered buttons extending down the front to give a long-waisted effect. She carried a single white orchid on a white ribbon.

Miss Edison, maid of honor, wore a mauve satin dress designed with a sweetheart neckline and cap sleeves. Her crescent bouquet was of purple mums.

The groom was attended by his cousin, Don Westbrook, as best man. Ushers were Wallace Beene, Alfred Brannan, Talbot Field, Jr. and Olin Jones.

The wedding was followed by a small reception at the home of the bride. Following the reception, the couple left for a trip to New Orleans, La.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruner will be at home in Hope at 420 Edgewood.

Chiang Could Turn Tide, Say Military Men

By ELTON C. FAY

Washington, Dec. 11 — (AP) — Some American military men believe Chiang Kai-shek's forces, with some help, could do effective damage to the China Communists.

This opinion, expressed to a reporter today by officials who cannot be named, is based on military factors. It does not take into account international political and diplomatic considerations. Because of these latter factors, and White House expressions of disapproval, there is reluctance to push the idea.

One military view is that such operations would be of definite value as a diversionary operation to draw away some of the Chinese Communist strength now being poured into the war in Korea.

President Truman has been cool to proposals to aid the Chinese Nationalist guerrilla effort because of the danger that Russia might seize upon such aid as pretext for openly intervening in the Asiatic war.

Nevertheless, it is known that some quiet, long-range studies are underway here which could be used if and when administration and diplomatic policies change.

Among other developments a high ranking officer of one of the services who was an expert on guerrilla activities in the Far East during World War II has been brought back to Washington from an overseas assignment to help in the studies.

Dispatches from the Far East suggest that a sizeable Nationalist guerrilla force exists in China. A Spencer Moosa, Associated Press correspondent in Formosa, says estimates range from less than 1,000,000 up to 1,600,000. But he points out they are poorly equipped with old arms and little ammunition.

And, he adds, they need a unified leadership.

Gen Douglas MacArthur was reported to have wanted to accept early in the Korean war, Chiang's offer to send 33,000 of his Formosa troops to Korea to join in the war against the Communists. Washington turned thumbs down on his proposal for both political and military reasons.

Aside from the now well-debated political reasons, some high Pentagon officials have opposed the idea on purely military grounds. One argument advanced has been that Chiang's men would be more useful in waging guerrilla warfare in South China.

No Smallpox Recorded in State in 1949

Little Rock, Dec. 11 — (AP) — For the first time in history, not a single case of smallpox was discovered in Arkansas in 1949.

There was only one case in 1948.

The absence of smallpox was reported in a summary issued Saturday by the Arkansas Health department's division of communicable disease control.

Slight increases were reported in Diphtheria and Typhoid fever, and the year, of course, had a record 922 cases of polio with 54 deaths.

Defendant Seeks Quick Decision

Washington, Dec. 11 — (AP) — Senators continued their inquiry into the appointment of Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg to be assistant secretary of defense today after receiving an emotional plea from her for a quick decision.

At a closed session Friday during which she repeated again denials that she had ever been associated with Communist groups it was learned Mrs. Rosenberg urged the senate armed services committee to finish up its investigation.

"I plead with you to finish this," she told the senators. "If you don't think I am fit to take this office, say so. I don't care what you charge me with, senators, but not disloyalty. It is an awful thing to carry around with you."

Senator Russell D. Ga. acting committee chairman, called for more secret testimony today from two witnesses who are under subpoena.

Benjamin Freedman, retired New York City businessman, who told newsmen he had seen her at meetings in touch with Ralph De Sola, self-styled former Communist party member. At Friday's session De Sola said — and Mrs. Rosenberg denied — that he met her as a Communist and saw her at party meetings in New York 15 years ago.

J. B. Matthews, a former investigator for the house-un-American activities committee.

Freedman has told newsmen he has no direct personal knowledge about the Communist charges.

The committee unanimously approved Mrs. Rosenberg's appointment on Nov. 29 but senator confirmation has been held up pending further study.

Meanwhile it was learned that portions of De Sola's testimony have been contradicted by his divorced wife, Miss Helen Winner, of New York City. Miss Winner said she is a former Communist who broke with the party.

De Sola testified that his ex-wife attended Communist sessions with him and saw the Anna Rosenberg who also attended.

Miss Winner denied that she had known the woman defense official as a Communist or had seen her at Communist meetings. She described De Sola as a person who "goes to great extremes" but always for what he regards as "noble reasons."

Texas Side of Texarkana Votes Out Beer Sales

Texarkana, Tex., Dec. 11 — (AP) — Bowie county residents Saturday voted to outlaw sale of beer in precinct 1, Texarkana, the only remaining wet precinct in the county.

The vote at the local option election was 4861 for prohibition; 3074 against.

Legal beer and liquor sales are permitted in Miller county, Ark., including the Arkansas side of this "border" city.

Doctor Believes Ilse Koch Is Faking Insanity

Augsburg, Germany, Dec. 11 — (AP) — A doctor testified today he believes Ilse Koch is faking insanity to escape her trial for concentration camp atrocities.

The "red witch of Buchenwald" was carried from her jail cell to Augsburg hospital in a screaming frenzy last night.

Her jail warden reported she shrieked, "I am guilty, I am a sinner," as she was taken from her cell.

Two doctors told the court today, they did not regard Frau Koch as insane.

Her trial on charges of causing murder and atrocities at the Buchenwald concentration camp continued today despite her absence as medical authorities investigated her mental condition.
